

Kampachi

Business deals have been sealed and marriage proposals made at Kampachi's stunning flagship outlet at The Troika. The space is a knockout with hundreds of sparkly bulbs suspended from the double-height ceiling and heads of sexy, pink fish at the display counters. The grandiose setting is not the only reason Kampachi took home three Best Japanese awards at past TOKL Food Awards, the sashimi-topped sushi is dependably well-executed as is the crowd-pleasing shake aburi maki (salmon roll topped with grilled eel). All seafood is air-flown from a designated vendor at Tokyo's Tsukiji fish market who sells exclusively to Kampachi.
